Market Commentary

In July, global financial markets showed improvement as major assets posted solid returns for the second consecutive month. Chinese stocks led Asian markets to strong gains, boosting Emerging Market equities, while other regions also saw positive returns, with Eurozone equities gaining 2.1%. U.S. stocks ended positively due to a better-than-expected earnings season and optimism about a controlled economic slowdown amid cooling inflation and rising interest rates. A 5.8% intra-month rally in Australian equities resulted in a 2.9% gain, driven by Energy and Financials sectors, notably Banks. The Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) decided to keep its key interest rates steady at 4.10% as it observed that previous rate hikes were starting to have the desired effect on demand and inflation expectations.

Outlook

Given the current circumstances and available evidence, we continue to recommend a low-risk investment portfolio. Our approach involves being underweight in equities and credit, overweight in government bonds, and maintaining a benchmark weight in cash. Although the Al/technology fuelled rally has made some question if a recession is still likely, we still believe the risks appear to be skewed to the downside on a 12-month investment horizon. As such, it's prudent to prioritise safety in investment decisions rather than taking unnecessary risks.
